

COVID-19 Faculty Survey Results

May 2020

Research

73%

Indicated that along with their research group, they were able to transition to a work-at-home posture with reasonable success

73%

Agreed they have been able to ensure continuity of critical minimum research operations

71%

Feel that although their research program has been impacted, they can see how to ramp it back up and recover from the disruption in their work

44%

Said they are slightly or not at all concerned with the condition of essential research resources

46%

Are very or extremely concerned with the ability to address funding impacts on their current sponsored projects

Areas of Concern

41%

Are very or extremely concerned with the access to PPE for laboratory activities

42%

Are very or extremely concerned with the safe return to clinical studies and other efforts with research participants